IBM is not a party to any such third party provider agreement, addendum, or amendment or is not responsible for the delivery or use of such third party cloud offering. Client must bring any issue related to the provision of the Box Service cloud offering to Box, Inc. The following terms modify the Agreement as it applies to Client’s acquisition of the third party Box Service cloud offering.

1.1 Service Performance and Commitments

IBM will submit Client’s order details to the third party provider for the enablement and delivery of the third party Box Service cloud offering. Performance, details and commitments are provided by the third party directly to Client under the terms of the third party provider agreement.

Client is responsible for Client’s and any of Client’s users use of the third party Box Service cloud offering and such offerings may not be acquired for any unauthorized, unlawful, or inappropriate purposes.

1.2 Confidentiality and Data Protection

Information Client provides to IBM may be shared with a third party provider or Client may be redirected to the third party provider website for the purposes of fulfilling an order and any ongoing support. The third party provider agreement will specify any security or other obligations regarding data protection, security and handling of Client’s content as well as any of Client’s additional responsibilities regarding the third party Box Service cloud offering.

1.3 Charges, Payment & Taxes

IBM will invoice and Client agrees to pay IBM for all applicable charges, any charges for use in excess of entitlements, any custom, duty, tax (including withholding tax), levy or fee imposed by any authority resulting from Client’s purchase or use of the third party Box Service cloud offering, and any late payment fee. The third party provider establishes the applicable charges for the Box Service cloud offering, and such charges are subject to change. Amounts are due upon receipt of the invoice and payable electronically within 30 days of the invoice date.

1.4 Term, Termination, Suspension

If the third party provider notifies IBM that it has withdrawn or terminated its Box Service cloud offering, the third party or IBM will notify Client and terminate the entitlements for such Box Service cloud offering and collect any final payments due through the effective date of termination. In case where payment is made up-front, Client will be entitled to a refund of any unused, prepaid fees, prorated from the effective date of termination. IBM may terminate or suspend Client’s access to the third party Box Service cloud offering if Client breaches its obligations to IBM or if the third party Box Service cloud offering or Client’s use of such Box Service cloud offering violates law.

Client’s access to the Box Service cloud offering will terminate at the end of the Subscription Period.
